"Policy Entrepreneur · Published Scholar · Governance solutions for government, the marketplace, and Christian organizations."

BIOGRAPHY · 150 WORDS

Deborah Esther Brooks is a Policy Entrepreneur and published policy scholar whose decade of work spans disability rights, juvenile justice reform, and federal compliance. Her research on Big Tech regulation and neurodiverse students appears in the Journal of Statesmanship & Public Policy (2026), and she presented healing-centered discipline reform for neurodivergent youth at Liberty University Research Week 2026. She previously administered oversight of $180M+ in federal ARPA allocations for Harris County and built legislative-facing policy research at Texas Southern University's Earl Carl Institute. Brooks is the founder of God Factor Consulting, a governance practice for mission-driven organizations, and of Called Out Mvmt, a Christian venture studio housing her books and frameworks — including the Dream Literacy Series and the Transformula™ (Pain + Gift + Talent = Opportunity).
